

Craig McEvoy is the Performance Director and National Coach for Boxing Scotland (BSL). Since completion of a 20-year career in the British Army, Craig has been employed with Boxing Scotland since 2012. Creating and implementing Scotland's first ever Boxer and Coach Pathway, Craig has led Scotland's National Team through the most successful performance period ever, including its first ever Elite World Championship medal and female European gold medal, and Scotland's best ever Commonwealth Games in 2022. Responsible for the BSL strategic performance plan and driving the evolution of the BSL performance programme to deliver Scottish medal success on the international stage, Craig also provides strategic performance planning and management advice to the BSL Board of Directors and CEO.

Craig is the board Welfare and Safeguarding Champion for GB Boxing and also sits on the Remuneration Committee.
